

Quaternary and quinary injury

Quaternary and quinary injury

Quaternary blast injury refers to a miscellaneous group of injuries that do not fall within other categories. These include burns, inhalational injuries and late-onset respiratory problems. Quinary injury refers to injury caused by the intentional addition of either biologically or radioactively active material to an explosive device. Quaternary and quinary injury

Quaternary blast injury refers to a miscellaneous group of injuries that do not fall within other categories. These include burns, inhalational injuries and late-onset respiratory problems. Quinary injury refers to injury caused by the intentional addition of either biologically or radioactively active material to an explosive device. Quaternary and quinary injury

Quaternary blast injury refers to a miscellaneous group of injuries that do not fall within other categories. These include burns, inhalational injuries and late-onset respiratory problems. Quinary injury refers to injury caused by the intentional addition of either biologically or radioactively active material to an explosive device.

Revision #1

Created 2025-12-31 15:14:11 UTC by Omar Ayman

Updated 2025-12-31 15:14:11 UTC by Omar Ayman